Meet our Judges!

Jordan Freed

Originally from Tampa, FL, Jordan Freed is a graduate of the University of South Florida where she earned her BFA degree in Dance – with a concentration in Ballet. While attending USF, she had the opportunity to perform in numerous works by faculty members Andrew Carroll, Paula Nunez, John Parks and Andee Scott as well as guest choreographers Alex Ketley and Claudia Lavista. She has studied all dance forms including the codified techniques of Lester Horton, Martha Graham, and Jose Limon. Jordan previously attended Peridance, in NYC, for the BluePrint intensive where she studied under Rachel Patrice, Joshua Beamish, Enzo Celli, Antonio Brown and Laura Rae Bernasconi. She also had the opportunity to perform in a work choreographed by Joshua Beamish in the final showcase. Post graduation, Jordan worked as a guest dancer with the Tampa City Ballet under the direction of USF faculty member Paula Nunez. She has performed in two parts of a trilogy called 7th Ave & Ybor. Prior to earning her BFA from the University of South Florida, she graduated from Blake High School and Orange Grove Middle Magnet School, and spent her years training at Frank Rey Dance Studio as well as taking summer intensives at Patel Conservatory. She has had the opportunity to study under many excellent teachers such as Kelly King, former captain of the Rockets, Ivonne Lemus, Ballet Mistress at Patel Conservatory, Duncan Cooper, former ballet dancer with San Francisco Ballet and the Dance Theater of Harlem, as well as Carlos Dos Santos, former dancer of Complexions Contemporary Ballet and Alvin Ailey.

Victoria Leggett

Victoria Leggett, a Tampa native, is an accomplished aerialist, photographer, dance teacher, and social media marketer with a deep passion for movement and creativity. She began dancing at the age of two, training locally for 12 years and competing for four. Over the past year, Victoria has also trained in professional Ballroom and Latin-style dances, expanding her versatility as a dancer. She is a dance instructor at ABASI Dance Lab and owns her own photography business, where she captures a variety of subjects and events. In addition to being 200-hour yoga-certified, she is also Barre and Bounce certified, blending strength, flexibility, and fun into her classes. Victoria holds a Bachelor's degree in Marketing from the University of Central Florida and enjoys combining her creative skills with her business expertise. She's known for sharing captivating stories on social media and producing professional content that highlights the art of dance.

Meet our Judges!

Catalina Moore

Catalina Moore is a professional dancer and educator trained in classical ballet, jazz, lyrical, contemporary, hip hop, musical theatre, and modern. At a young age, she pursued advanced training and, in eighth grade, completed the University of Iowa's dance major program, an experience that helped shape her strong technical foundation and versatility as a performer.

Catalina went on to dance professionally in Los Angeles for four years, performing and training within the commercial dance industry. During her time in LA, she was a member of ImmaBEAST High Society, Academy of Villains, and the EDGE PAC Scholarship Program. She has worked with industry-leading choreographers and artists including Janelle Ginestra, Kyle Hanagami, Dexter Carr, JoJo Gomez, JoJo Siwa, Madison Beer, and various pop groups.

As an educator, Catalina is passionate about developing strong technique while encouraging individuality, confidence, and artistic expression. She strives to create an uplifting and disciplined environment where dancers feel supported, challenged, and empowered to grow. Outside of the studio, Catalina loves to travel, lift weights, and thrift. She is a proud stepmom and the devoted owner of four guinea pigs and one dog.

Dr. Mallory Quinn

Dr. Mallory grew up dancing and performing since the age of three, locally in Tampa with her niche as a musical theater performer. She now acts as an audition coach and judge for multiple Thespian and Dance competitions.

Dr. Mallory is a Certified Personal Trainer through the National Academy of Sports Medicine (NASM). As a ballet instructor, Mallory holds a certification in the Progressing Ballet Technique method which provides muscle memory training for classical ballet. In addition, she is a certified acrobatics teacher through Acrobatic Arts. Dr. Mallory has taught group dance and fitness classes for over a decade at reputable studios in the area before owning her own studio.

Dr. Mallory holds a Ph.D. in Applied Behavior Analysis and has multiple published research studies in scientific journals on various topics of using principles of ABA to teach dance and decrease coercive coaching styles. She utilizes the principles from ABA as an ACT therapist to ensure her dancers are loved and supported while also being safely pushed to their highest potential.

Thank you!

Dear DDC team and families,

From the bottom of my heart, I would like to thank each and everyone of you for being a part of our dance family. These dancers continue to amaze me every single day, and we are beyond excited to see them take the competition stage next weekend at Precision Arts Challenge in Tampa!

A sincere thank you to our Teachers and Faculty who help our dancers grow! There is so much I could say, but to keep it short and sweet – you truly are the heartbeat behind it all. The love you bring to our students is unparalleled and our studio culture shows this. You are appreciated more than you'll ever know!

A huge shout out all of our parent volunteers who have taken the time to help us with our Team Showcase. We couldn't do it without you, and I am eternally grateful!

Sending much love to all of you. Keep dancing, keep believing, and never let go of your dreams.

Sincerely,
Miss Rose
